CITY NOTES

Greenbelt CARES

Week Ending February 19

Judye Hering is happy to introduce Jada Griffin, a graduating senior from Bowie State. Jada is studying Child Care and Development and is interning with the Vocational/Educational Program.

Judye Hering met with Kenzie Funk and her group from Terps For Change on Saturday, February 13. They are a Service-Learning group of students from the University of Maryland interested in volunteering and making a difference in the community. Kenzie volunteered last semester as well. Terps For Change will work with the Vocational/Educational Program.

The GAIL Program has been awarded a grant for $3,000 from the Capital Area Food Bank to supplement existing food programming for the City.

Darren Stephenson conducted the third session of "Grand Love-grandparents raising grandkids." Twelve grandparents are registered and five participated in this session. Topics discussed were stages of child development, emotional wellness, stress management and the benefits of solitude and happiness.

CITIZEN ADVISORY

'JUMP IN' CAR THEFTS

In the past few days there have been several instances where cars have been stolen after being left unlocked with the keys in the ignition and the vehicle running. Not only are you pretty much handing the keys to the thief, it's against Maryland Motor Vehicle Law to leave a running car unattended and can result in a fine. This also includes push button start vehicles, even if you don't keep the key in the car (remote-starting vehicles systems are exempt). Thank you!

The events continue this weekend with a workshop on Enslaved Life and Labor on Maryland Plantations on Saturday and an opportunity to meet the Female RE-Enactors of Distinction (FREED) online on Sunday. Event details are available on the VRC and in the Greenbelt News Review. Many events require pre-registration. All events will be featured with regular postings on social media.
- Our Preschool Program, Mom's Morning Out, continued the Winter/Spring semester. Our preschoolers are celebrating Black History Month. Every week they learn about a prominent African American and this week they focused on George Washington Carver, a prominent scientist and inventor. They are also celebrating Presidents' month by learning about George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. In addition to history lessons, preschoolers enjoyed science experiments, a language arts unit based on The Mitten by Jan Brett, and prepared a cherry pie at home in honor of George Washington.
- Spring program planning continued. Staff met to plan for the return of a few selected onsite classes, beginning on March 1.

- Staff continued to add new content to the VRC. Black History Month events will be featured throughout February.
- Fit Family Hour registration is ongoing at both the Youth Center and Springhill Lake Recreation Center. Families can register for a one hour time slot at either facility, up to three times per week. A health screening is conducted upon arrival and participants must wear masks at all times. The new program is advertised in the Greenbelt News Review, VRC, and on City Facebook pages.
